Before a Picture. As one who deep asleep doth see

THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 14, 1867.

Dim dreams of bye gone ages, Pale, shadowy shapes of gramarye, Proud knights and saucy pages;-And, waking, finds the silent room With sw. et i lusions haunted, And nevermore the twilight-gloom Is wholly disences ated:-

As one who, looking on a face Drawn by dead da ling fingers, Deems something of the artist's grace On check and forehead ling "; and in the eyes' soft gaze hath found Some lost tale's strange reflections, "Till all the worm air thrills around With shadowy recollections:

60 l. as sitting here I watch Your eyes' dim revelations, And sof ly musing, some hing catch Of Fancy's divinations; Feel all my spirit strangely stirred With dre- as of love and glory.

Through Time's king chequered story. W_at old imperial blazon, What royal kinship did impart This bouty that I seze ou? Whence came the glory of your hair?

Of those who lived, and loved, and erred

What rary e herial essence Hath deck d you with this queenly sir, This lordship of your presence ! Ah! forms and shapes of bye-gone days Are rising up before me,

A mist enwraps me as I gaze, A glory guthers o'er me; I seem to stand 'neath Southern moons When Southern skies are holy, And down the sweep of broad lagoons The long light fadeth slowly.

Before me gleam proud shapes of Eld; Prom old baronia castles Come stately forms whose hands once held Love's acaptre o'er Love's Vassal :-From her who erst her ligh court kept by fair Canossus' meadows, To her whose last I mg sleep is slept

In Fotheringay's shadows.

All fair reno the whose usho comes Adown Tim 's dusky river Which thril in peals of thunderous drums or in the lute's tones quiver, The fifth, and hop', and love, and truth That crown d the old world's story, The yearning of imperious youth, The patience that is heary:-

These gather fast in shadowy forms, In dim phantasmagoria Of Souther suns and Nortnern storms, Or Venice and of Doria; All sweetest lips, all purest eyes,

And love songs ming as they rise With trumpet-call and | man. But bick from all the birled Past, Back from the fiel a Flysian. My wa ward fancy come at last To | er w o rais d the vision; And better th n those brows serene,

And smiles so sweetly human, I hold you-not a crowned Queen, But-just a simple woman. As when dim dreams a form disclose

To some impetuous wooer,

He wak s, an i finds a fice, an i knows Bis wiking from the truer,-So turn I to your face at last And hope-all cope is planant-That sho whose spels co. If raise the Past Will glorif, the present

MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

"GOOD SAMARITAN."

THE PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSITY Of MEDICINE AND SURGERY was organized in 1848. Chartered by the Legislature Pebruary 26, 1883. Name changed by a legislative enactment to the Echectic hedical College, of Philadelphia, in 1850. In 1863 it purchased the Pennsylvania Medical college, es abhished in 1842, and the Philadelphia Medical College, which had previously been marged into the Pennsylvania Medical College, which had previously been marged into the Pennsylvania Medical University. The Trustees of the separate schools united, pestioned and obtained a special Act of the Lapis sture, consolidating these institutions and charging their names to that of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery, surch 16, 1865. All those various Acts are published in the statutes of Pennsylvania. The cost of the 1 ultim the legal representative of the four Medical Colleges that it has absorbed. It is a liberal school of medicine, confined to no dogma, nor attached to any medical colleges, but embraces in its teaching everything of value to the profession.

Serious.—It has two full accessions each-year, commano-but embraces in its leaching the profession.

Serions.—It has two full sessions each year, communoing on the lat of Dotober, and continuing until the lat of January, as its first session, and from the lat of January to the lat of April, as its second; the two constituting one full course of lectures. It has also a summer session, commencing the lat April and continuing until August, for the preparatory branches, such as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Botany, Zoology, Chemisur, Antomy Mathematics, 200 pp. 100 pp. 100

Physiology, etc.

Tickets.—Tickets to the full course of lectures $120, or Tickets.—Tickets to the full course of lectures $190, or $80 for each session. For the summer or preparatory course $25. Graudating ise $30. To aid young men of moderate means, the University has issued five nundred scholarships, which are sold to first-course students for $75, and to second-course students and clergymen for $50, e. ch constituting the holder a life member, with the perpetual rivileges of the lectures, and all the teachings of the school. The only adultional sees are a sarly dissecting and matriou sing tested, each of which is $5.

The Advantages of Scholarship.—The student holding a scholarship can enter the College at any time during the year, attent as long as he cho-see, and re-enter the institution as f. equantly as defired.

It requires no previous reading or study to anter the University on scholarshipe, hence, all private tuition fees are sarded.

Students, by holding scholarships, can prosecute other business a part of the time.

The candidate for graduation can present himself at any time, and receive his degree as soon as qualified. In case a student should hold a scholarship and not be in case a stu ent should hold a scholaranily and not be able to attend loctures, it can be transferred to another, thus preventing an loss.

Farents, guardians or firends of students wishing to pur-hase scholaranily for them a year or more before their attendance at the University, can secure than by advancing one-half the price and paying the balance when the student enters. Physicians and benevolant men can bestow great benefit upon poor young man by recenting them a scholaranily, and thus enabling them to obtain an honorable profession.

The Faculty embraces seventeen eminent physicians and surgical disease is operated on and treated in the presence of the class.
